

Here's what $725K buys you right now all around LA

It's enough for a cozy two-bedroom in Burbank—or a condo in a 1920s Arts District loft building.

Construction on Four Seasons condos in Beverly Grove underway this week

The complex holds 58 luxurious residences and one $50-million penthouse with its own pool and garden.

Modernist two-bedroom condo in Palm Springs seeks $469K

Highlights include terrazzo and cork floors, walls of windows, and festive orange range hood in the kitchen.

Van Nuys hangar from 'Casablanca' may be restored at last

The Valley Relics Museum is offering to restore it and incorporate it into a new building at Van Nuys Airport, where it may become part of a Moroccan-themed restaurant.

Take a look at new housing development planned for Hollywood and Wilcox

New renderings show off the 15-story project, which is set to rise next to the Art Deco-style Attie Building.

LA River's Atwater Village-Griffith Park bridge is a very expensive 'gift'

Angelenos will pay for over 75 percent of the price tag for the pedestrian, equestrian, and bike bridge.

Fanciful Swiss-style residence in Glendale is looking for a new owner

Back on the market after selling in January, the three-bedroom home includes hardwood floors, vaulted ceilings, and a large wraparound deck on the upper level.

The 4 best backyard pool hacks to keep you cool this summer

From stock tanks—yes, the ones used by cows—to backyard streams, we've got four options that are less expensive than traditional pools but will still look great.

New affordable housing development planned for Figueroa Street

Planned for a rapidly changing stretch of the Figueroa corridor, the project will include 56 units for homeless residents and veterans.